My name is John Smith. I am a software developer, and my favorite programming language is Python. I studied computer engineering at UCLA, and I got my BSC degree in 2013. Then, I worked for Facebook from 2014 to 2017 in Silicon valley. I am planning to pioneer a new startup in Northern America.